PREFACE

The education planning in Pakistan like most of the developing countries has been an influential force to prepare the nation for the 21st Century. Pakistan has half a century of national experience and off course the lessons of the regional countries can also be a good guide for the future planning of education. The planning has so far been mostly pre-occupied with over playing the inadequacies and short falls of the past rather than highlighting the successful experience gained through the implementation of different programmes hence it has created a crisis situation.

In this situation the problem of quality is seen as an urgent need to improve the achievement level of students in the subjects of mathematics and science at primary and secondary levels. Simultaneously increased pressure for higher enrollment and provide better access to education for the school age population, educational planning has not found a mission of envisioning, stimulating and facilitating education change and transformation in the country. Now is the time for all of us and particularly for the development planners to adopt a comprehensive approach to educational planning with much wider focus so that the quality of life of those who are living below the poverty line should improve. The education reforms in Pakistan should focus on the long term developments in society and the learning environment should not be limited to the class rooms rather it must become the culture of society.

One major instrument of change is the timely generation of accurate data and its use in the planning process. The Academy of Educational Planning and Management has taken a lead role in this endeavor; undertaking annual school census on regular basis and providing support to the Provincial Educational Management Information Systems .

The National data on School Census for the year 1994-95 is now available. I think this is a useful data set for the users. The Academy deserves appreciation for this effort.
